

Wisconsin Center for IT Services

Housed in the College of Business and Economics at the University of Wisconsin Whitewater, the Wisconsin Center for Information Technology Services (Wi-CITS) focuses on providing IT services to regional non-profits and small businesses, while giving students real-world experience. The center also works on student organization and other campus related projects as well.

Targeted work includes website design and development, software design and development and IT consulting (e.g. gaining value from your web presence, search engine optimization, security, and database). The center utilizes the outstanding students and faculty from our IT and business programs.
